When football becomes a guest culture - Revo Hospitality Group welcomes women's national teams

Berlin/Basel/Thun, 1 July 2025 - Two Swiss hotels of the Revo Hospitality Group are welcoming international teams for the European Championship: as central tournament accommodation in Thun and as matchday accommodation in Basel. A special task that combines service excellence, organisational talent and genuine hospitality.

This summer, it is not only on the pitch that everything will be given its all: Away from the spotlight, hosts are also performing at their best - just like the Revo Hospitality Group. Two of its hotels - the Hotel Seepark in Thun and the Mövenpick Hotel Basel - are hosting several national teams as guests during this major international sports tournament.

While the public watches the action in the stadiums, a meticulously timed hotel operation is running in the background, combining logistics, reliability and first-class service.

"We are proud to be hosting special guests in two Swiss cities. Even when we're not scoring goals, our teams in the kitchen, service and organisation deliver top sporting performances every day," says Ruslan Husry, CEO of the Revo Hospitality Group.

Home base for concentration and regeneration

The Hotel Seepark in Thun - nestled between the lake and the mountains - was chosen as the home base for one of the participating women's teams. The focus here is on tranquillity, retreat and targeted regeneration.

The Mövenpick Hotel Basel offers urban comfort and the necessary infrastructure for other teams during the tournament.

Both hotels share the philosophy of the Revo Hospitality Group: authentic hospitality, flexibility, reliability - and a deep understanding of the needs of exceptional guests.

Sport meets top service

The challenges? Special dietary requirements, daily changes to the schedule and a high demand for discretion - for the hotels in the Revo Hospitality Group, this means tried and tested processes, interdisciplinary cooperation and an extra dose of commitment.

One highlight is the cuisine: nutritional plans are tailored to performance, recovery and individual preferences in consultation with the respective teams. Fresh, regional products and the highest quality are a matter of course.

Hospitality at an international level

The Revo Hospitality Group once again demonstrates how the Swiss hotel industry delights international guests: reliable, charming, flexible - and ready for the sporty summer of 2025.
